Your donations change lives...
Helping people help themselves through the power of work.

To fund our mission, we collect donated clothing, household items, computers and automobiles to sell in our retail stores, outlets, and at our auctions, and provide business enterprises to public and private businesses and government. Each business unit at Goodwill generates income, while serving as front-line training ground for the development of job skills. Over 85 percent of our revenues are channeled directly into programs to meet our local communities' needs.

We want you to know that your donated goods have the power to make a difference in people's lives, strengthen communities and create a healthier planet. And, we know that when people think twice about what they donate, where they donate, and how their donations affect others, that can have an overall powerful impact.

*Your donations are tax deductible.
Save this receipt with your estimate of market value.*

Goodwill Industries affirms that no goods or services were provided as consideration whole or in part for any property received. As required by the IRS, clothing and household goods must be in good used condition or better for tax deductions.
